Curriculum Policy

NEMAT's policy on curriculum is based on our ethos that individual schools know best what serves their own community. To this end the curriculum is therefore a matter for individual Local Governing Bodies to decide, based on the conditions below.

The school's curriculum should:

- be broad and balanced;
- take account of the demands of the accountability framework;
- address the needs and aspirations of pupils/students, their families and the local community;
- provide for smooth transition to the next phase of a pupil's/student's life.

Wherever particular curricular strengths, or highly successful curricular models, are identified in a member school these will be shared with all Trust schools for the benefit of all pupils/students.
